

BRUNTON CASTING specialises in sourcing exceptional British talent for theatre and film. With three decades of industry expertise and a strong network of diverse, high-calibre performers, we provide bespoke casting services to match each project with the ideal actors—whether emerging talent or seasoned professionals.

Charlie Brunton has worked in theatre, film, and television for over 30 years, starting his career as a child actor. His career has taken him across the UK, USA, Canada, and Europe, where he's built long-standing relationships within the industry.

He enjoys bringing the right people together and is known for a thoughtful, collaborative approach to casting, wherever in the world a project takes him.
